Types of fire extinguishers

1. Powder extinguisher: for flammable solid, liquid and gaseous substances
2. Water extinguisher: for flammable solid substances
3. Foam extinguisher: for flammable liquids like gas, fat or petrol

Use of fire extinguishers

Fire extinguishers should not be used by unexperienced people. Before tackling a fire with a fire extinguisher, make sure you or someone else has raised the fire alarm and that you have a safe evacuation route.

To use the correct type of extinguisher for the fire, use the four-step technique.

1. Pull: Pull the pin, this will break the tamper seal.
2. Aim: Aim low, pointing the nozzle or hose at the base of the fire.
(Do not touch the horn on a CO2 extinguisher, it gets very cold and can damage the skin.)
3. Squeeze: Squeeze the handle to release the extinguishing agent.
4. Sweep: Sweep from side to side at the base of the fire, the fuel source, until the fire is extinguished.

Do not point foam extinguishers towards people or animals, because they are likely to get frostbites.

Caution in case of fire

1. Call the fire station phone number: 112
2. Put in safety other people and yourself, but not when you come into a dangerous situation
3. Close doors and windows

Do not obstruct fire-resistant doors, because they safe fire and smoke for half an hour.

What to do in smokey rooms:

- Lay down on the floor, because there is the biggest amount of oxygen
- Scream outside the window that others must get attentive

In case of fire, all guests have to come to the meeting point, because all people will be counted.

You can't smell the smoke if you sleep! You can choke because of the carbon monoxide.
